CAPE KENNEDY (AP) — A space agency official said today that all problems had been resolved and that "all systems are in a ready condition" for Thursday's scheduled blastoff of the Gemini 5 spacecraft.

Astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. are to rocket aloft on man's longest attempted manned space flight, an eight-day weightless whirl.

Dr. George E. Mueller, NASA associate administrator for manned space flight, said that a spacecraft power supply problem had been resolved and "all systems are in a ready condition and the crew is ready to go."

"We do expect to carry out the flight on schedule," he said.

The Titan 2 booster rocket is slated to lift off at 9 a.m. (EST) Thursday.

"There have been the usual—or unusual—set of last minute problems," Mueller said, "and I'm pleased to report we have been able to resolve them."

This included the power system which had kept engineers up

Gunfight Erupts At Muslim Mosque In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A gunfight at a Black Muslim mosque shattered the predawn stillness of south Los Angeles' riot-smashed Negro district today. Police and National Guardsmen sealed off a four-block area.

Eight Muslims were reported wounded in the mosque, described by officers as "a mess" with blood on the floor of the front room.

The gunfire broke an uneasy calm prevailing for two nights in the Negro district where rioting erupted one week ago and has cost 34 lives.

The police sweep on the Muslim mosque came little more than 11 hours after a curfew was lifted.

The Black Muslims are a militant Negro organization disavowing the nonviolent preachings of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. They advocate total separation of white and black races and supremacy of the black.

A number of weapons and at least one Molotov cocktail were confiscated, but police had no accurate count. They said Muslims had been carrying guns into the mosque shortly before the shooting started. A 20-year-old man was picked up two blocks away with an air rifle. Police said it was modified to fire shotgun shells.

Thirty-five Negro men were arrested at the mosque and on adjacent streets. Included were several who said they answered a trouble call from Muslim leaders.

Police said Muslims opened fire as officers approached Muhammad's mosque on Islam No. 27 in the Watts district. Patrolmen returned the shots and stormed inside.

The approximately 150 police officers at the mosque asked for a 50-man National Guard patrol to reinforce them.

Among those arrested outside the building were three unarmed Negroes who identified themselves to police as Black Muslims. Sgt. R. S. Herrera said they told him they were answering a call for help because the mosque was under fire.

Sniper fire broke out a block away as officers led prisoners to a bus. Police riddled a second building with bullets but the sniper escaped.

The two incidents — plus wounding of a Negro man as he ran from officers several miles away — broke a relative calm that prevailed the first night the curfew was lifted in the riot zone.

Before the shooting outbreak, the 46-square-mile Negro trouble district experienced its first (Continued on Page Two)

Editors List Own Ideas on Trial News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two newspaper editors have advised Congress to rely on voluntary restraints rather than pass legislation curbing the publication of news about criminal cases not yet decided.

The two, Sam Ragan, executive editor of the News and Observer and the Raleigh Times, Raleigh, N.C., and Alfred Friendly, vice president and managing editor of the Washington Post, were joined by the Justice Department Tuesday in opposing a bill introduced by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., aimed at insuring unprejudiced trials.

Ragan is the immediate past president of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association. Friendly is chairman of the pressbar committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Both of the editors told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee that special committees set up by newspaper organizations are searching for the best way to balance the guarantees of free press and fair trial.

Ragan said he does not regard a free press and a fair trial as incompatible, but rather "it is my belief that there cannot be a fair trial without a free press."

Friendly argued that forbidding lawyers, police and prosecutors from saying anything that might prejudice a future trial might "easily become a means to lower an iron curtain behind which prejudiced or corrupt police and courts could enjoy invulnerability."

Morse was the only witness in favor of his bill on the opening day of the hearings.

Solons Hope To Adjourn In September

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now that the long deadlock over foreign aid has been broken, congressional leaders are talking more confidently of going home some time in September.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says he is shooting for adjournment around Labor Day of the session that has seen enactment of more legislation than any other of recent years. All major proposals by President Johnson that have come up for a vote so far have won approval.

House Speaker John W. McCormack talks more conservatively of winding up business "perhaps from Sept. 18 on."

McCormack's date seemed to have more takers than Mansfield's. Some skeptics, pointing to high priority bills still on various rungs of the legislative ladder, say Congress can't get through until sometime in October.

But the agreement reached Tuesday by House and Senate conferees on reconciling the two versions of the foreign aid authorization bill clears away one stubborn obstacle. The discussions had been going on intermittently since June 18. The agreement came during the conferees' 14th meeting.

Johnson's requests for foreign aid totaled $3.469 billion. The $3.36 billion figure finally approved includes $1.7 billion in military assistance abroad, the remainder in economic aid.

Both chambers are expected promptly to approve the compromise, which comes up for action in the House probably Thursday. The principal issue resolved was the duration of the authorization. The conferees finally took the House version — one year only — but the House negotiators agreed to support a longer-term authorization next time.

The authorization bill, however, only sets a maximum for the actual appropriation, which must be considered later.

Some members of Congress are unhappy about the U.S. decision not to try to deprive the Soviet Union, France and other countries delinquent in their United Nations peacekeeping assessments of their votes in the U.N. Assembly.

Every year someone makes the gesture of trying to eliminate or reduce U.N. funds in the appropriation bills. This year the effort may be pushed harder. The State Department appropriation, which contains the basic U.S. dues to the United Nations, already has been enacted, but funds for various U.N. agencies are in the foreign aid appropriation measure.

Rhodes' Job Claim Rapped By Solon

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes has been accused of "falsely claiming to have increased the number of jobs in Ohio under his administration by 209,000."

The charge was made Tuesday night by State Rep. Harry H. McIlwain of Cincinnati, who said, "The awful truth is that Ohio has only gained 14,000 jobs in the period from 1960 through 1964, while its population over 18 years of age has increased by 135,000."

McIlwain spoke at a Butler County Young Democrats meeting.

He quoted an Aug. 2 study by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland and said, "The report showed that among Ohio's major cities only Columbus and Dayton kept pace with the nation's 5.5 per cent growth in jobs, while Cleveland and Akron had gains of less than 1 per cent."

"Cincinnati was in the shocking position of actually having fewer jobs than in 1960," McIlwain added.

Ballot Copies Are Sent to 88 Counties

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown sent out copies of ballots for the Nov. 2 election to county boards today.

He said the copies were prepared so that boards in the 88 counties could have absentee voter ballots ready for use by members of the armed forces as early as possible.

At state in the election will be municipal, village, township, judicial and board of education offices.

Brown said that ballots would be sent out on three state-wide issues after the legislature adjourned.

Issues which will appear on ballots for final decision by voters are:

—A sales - tax increase to raise more money for public schools.

—A change in the state constitution authorizing creation of urban service authorities.

—A constitutional amendment permitting a judge to serve in more than one court in counties of less than 40,000 population.

The legislature, which returns August 31, has pending a house reapportionment proposal for a place on ballots. The senate has adopted a reapportionment amendment, but the house has yet to act.

U.S. Finally Sees Balance in Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has at last taken in more funds in its international transactions than it sent abroad — for the first time in any three-month period since 1957.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler goes before a Senate subcommittee today to discuss this development and a related problem — the possible shortage of international money and credit.

Fowler said at a news conference Tuesday that the U.S. balance of payments registered a surplus of $528 million, based on a seasonally adjusted annual rate, in the April-June quarter compared with a $3.1 billion deficit in the first three months of this year.

A country's balance of payments measures receipts of all kinds, public and private, from abroad, against all outlays. The United States, even though it sold to other countries more than it bought from them, had an unfavorable balance because of such things as tourist spending, foreign aid, funds being invested abroad and overseas military outlays.

WAS HE GLAD TO GET THERE? — Landing at Falmouth, England, to complete his solo conquest of the Atlantic Ocean in his 13½-foot sailboat Tinkerbelle, Cleveland newspaperman Robert Manry's first act is to kiss the ground. Among the thousands of greeters were his wife, Virginia, their daughter, Robin, 13, and son, Douglas, 12. Manry, 48, took 78 days to make the 3,200-mile crossing.

Manry Gets Hero's Welcome, Now Seeks His 'Land Legs'

FALMOUTH, England (AP) — "I do wish England would stop moving around so much," said Robert Manry Tuesday night after 78 days crossing the Atlantic in his 13½-foot Tinkerbelle.

The American newsman was getting his land legs back a few hours after completing his 3,200-mile solo voyage in the smallest sailboat known to have made the eastward Atlantic crossing nonstop.

After a hero's welcome from the townspeople of Falmouth and his family, Manry, 47, was relaxing in his hotel room when he got a telephone call from his boss, Thomas Vail, publisher and editor of the Cleveland (Ohio) Plain Dealer.

Manry hung on to the banister as he came down to the phone.

"I've always wanted to be in England," he told Vail, "and I came here the hard way, but I wish it would stop moving around."

Vail congratulated Manry and the sailor replied: "Well, thank you very much. I do not think anything I did was all that important."

Said Vail: "Right now you're probably better known in Ohio than President Johnson."

Manry got back upstairs without using the banisters.

"I guess it is not moving around so much any more," he said with a big grin.

Falmouth harbor officials, who know a lot about the sea, recommended medical attention before Manry undergoes any more public ceremonies like the tumultuous welcome he received Tuesday.

Dr. W. L. Timmins said that he was bound to have a big let-down and should be let alone for at least a day or two.

Mrs. Manry said: "Robert is quite all right, but now I think he has the right to get his breath."

Manry arrived Tuesday evening in the setting sun, greeted by an armada of small boats and an uproar of cheers, church bells and ship sirens. He had left Falmouth, Mass., June 1.

He first embraced his wife, Virginia, 46, his son, Douglas, 11, and his daughter, Robin, 14. Then he knelt and kissed the soil of England.

Manry was tanned and fit; the Tinkerbelle's white paint and red deck gleamed and she flew the Stars and Stripes proudly.

After the welcome, Manry went to his hotel and climbed into the tub — "the best place I've ever seen," he said.

Harbor officials picked up the Tinkerbelle and tucked her away in a Royal Air Force Marine base so souvenir hunters would not pick her apart.

A resolution has been introduced in the U.S. Congress to place the tiny boat in the Smithsonian Institution alongside Charles A. Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis.

Hometowners Will Salute Captain Bob

WILLOWICK, Ohio (AP)—The hometown of newspaperman-turned-sailor Robert Manry is planning its biggest welcome in history.

Mayor Donald J. Swetland wants to give the key to the city to the 47-year-old Manry, who successfully crossed the Atlantic in a 13½-foot sailboat.

A 12-member civic committee is arranging a special "Manry Day" parade. On Monday City Council will vote on a proposal to make a former Nike site being turned into a park after Manry.

Manry, known to his neighbors and friends as "the quiet man," lives with his family in a one-story, red-brick house on a quiet block.

Some of his neighbors at first doubted that Manry would actually conquer the mighty Atlantic in that dinky boat they used to see him working on in his back yard.

But they admit now that Manry's wife, Virginia, made believers of them.

"Virginia had so much faith in his ability, it just grew on us," said Mrs. Delbert Perkey.

Residents of this city 23 miles east of Cleveland want it firmly established that Manry is from "our home town," although he works in Cleveland.

"Bob put us on the map," said Frank Orpse, a retired plumber and back-fence friend of Manry's.

Orpse, who often passed the time of day with Manry while he worked on his sailboat, said of the now-famous sailor: "I'd call him a humble man. The only thing he really likes to talk about is sailing."

In Cleveland, which also will honor Manry, his coworkers and superiors at the Plain Dealer were jubilant over the good news. Manry is a copy editor there.

Thomas Vail, editor and publisher of the morning and Sunday newspaper, telephoned Manry in Falmouth, saying: "Bob, I wanted to be the first to tell you how proud we are of you. You've done a great job."

Jack Foster, Plain Dealer news editor, added: "I wonder how he'll settle down to the routine of the copy desk after all he's been through."

Enemy Losses Said High; Cong Dig In

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines and 7th Fleet gunners hammered today at a reinforced Viet Cong regiment on the Van Tuong peninsula, about 60 miles south of Da Nang, in a battle they called the biggest American ground engagement of the war.

Maj. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, the Marine commander, said Viet Cong casualties will run into the hundreds. "We're not through counting yet," Walt told newsmen.

Of American losses—officially described as light—the general said "70 percent of our casualties were people who got shot in the back. It is very, very treacherous terrain."

The Leathernecks attacked in full regimental landing force, some from landing craft and others from helicopters and quickly established heavy contact with the Red enemy. Officers said the Viet Cong force, well-dug in, may number up to 2,000 men.

The battle site is on the South China Sea about 10 miles south of the Marines' Chu Lai beachhead, 52 miles south of Da Nang and 330 miles northeast of Saigon.

"The biggest thing we've ever had," a briefing officer said.

Unofficial sources said two Marine tank corps tanks and one antitank weapons carrier were knocked out in the initial assault. The action raged on into the night.

"I predict we'll have some tough fighting tomorrow," Walt said.

The Marine assault forces included a special landing detachment from 7th fleet warships standing off shore. These included the amphibious assault ship Iowa Jima, which is a helicopter transport, a cruiser, an attack transport and two destroyers.

"We made maximum use of the sea," the briefing officer said. "We made great use of naval gunfire."

Walt reported guns of the cruiser Galveston wiped out two Viet Cong companies trying to flee from a village. He said he personally counted 17 Viet Cong bodies, all uniformed, in one rice paddy.

"I have never seen a better coordinated attack than I saw today," the general said.

He added that the Viet Cong were well-fortified and that they had camouflaged positions complete with trenches and concrete bunkers.

He said many of the Viet Cong were so well-concealed that numbers of the Marines charged past them, then were fired on from the rear.

Unofficial accounts from the battlefield said the Marines came under withering fire when some elements landed from helicopters and charged up to take a hill. The Viet Cong zeroed in on them with mortars and automatic weapons.

The Marines got their heavy weapons into action and later called in air strikes to help silence some of the Viet Cong positions.

Storm Rocks Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A severe thunderstorm with winds gusting up to 50 miles per hour hit Columbus during the rush hour Tuesday, knocking out power and paralyzing traffic.

The Weather Bureau station at Port Columbus said the storm dumped more than three-quarters of an inch of rain on the city within a half-hour period.

Flooding was reported at underpasses throughout the city. High water at the Fifth Avenue and 17th Avenue crossings on the North Freeway brought traffic to a virtual standstill.

Downed power lines knocked out traffic signals, adding to motorists' problems.

Lightning struck power substations, disrupting service in all sections of the city.

Lightning also knocked out the Weather Bureau's radar equipment, but it was returned to service a short time later.

Tornado Strikes Carolina Town

OCEAN DRIVE BEACH, S.C. (AP)—A heat-spawned tornado roared down on this South Carolina resort town Tuesday, injuring about 45 persons and causing an estimated $1.3 million worth of damage.

None of the victims was believed seriously hurt, but some were hospitalized overnight. Most were treated for minor cuts and bruises and shock.

Utility lines were down, roofs of buildings lay on the ground, store windows were smashed and some cars were destroyed.

The 1962 will, filed for inventory Tuesday, left 60 per cent of the estate to a niece and five nephews.

Miss Matthews, 82, who died July 11, set up a trust for scholarship for the study of Israel under the auspices of Children to Palestine, Inc., Boston, Mass.

Accused Slayer's Hearing Delayed

FRANKLINTON, La. (AP) — A preliminary hearing for a white man charged with the ambush slaying of a Negro deputy sheriff near Bogalusa has been postponed.

Ernest R. McElveen, 41, was scheduled to appear before State Dist. Judge James Richard Friday.

The postponement was asked by Dist. Atty. W. W. Irwin and the hearing was reset for the first week of September.

McElveen, an employee of a Bogalusa paper mill, is charged in the murder of Deputy Oneal Moore and the attempted murder of Deputy Creed Rogers, also Negro.

All Systems Said Ready For Thursday Gemini Flight

CAPE KENNEDY (AP) — A space agency official said today that all problems had been resolved and that "all systems are in a ready condition" for Thursday's scheduled blastoff of the Gemini 5 spacecraft.

Astronauts L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. are to rocket aloft on man's longest attempted manned space flight, an eight-day weightless whirl.

Dr. George E. Mueller, NASA associate administrator for manned space flight, said that a spacecraft power supply problem had been resolved and "all systems are in a ready condition and the crew is ready to go."

"We do expect to carry out the flight on schedule," The Titan 2 booster rocket is slated to lift off at 9 a.m. (EST) Thursday.

"There have been the usual—or unusual—set of last minute problems," Mueller said, "and I'm pleased to report we have been able to resolve them."

This included the power system which had kept engineers up all night in an effort to resolve it.

Gemini Project Director Charles Mathews said the fuel cell system was thoroughly tested and "it did not misbehave."

The problem developed late Tuesday night, at a time when everything seemed to be progressing smoothly toward a scheduled 9 a.m. (EST) launching Thursday.

The difficulty first arose at the McDonnell Aircraft Co. plant in St. Louis during a fuel cell test. McDonnell makes the Gemini spacecraft. Engineers noted an excessive venting of gaseous hydrogen from the system.

A fuel cell system has never before been used on a U.S. man-in-space flight. It replaces conventional storage batteries which are heavier and bulkier. Two 68-pound cells are in the Gemini 5 craft. Batteries weighing 12 times that much would be needed to support an eight-day mission. The cramped capsule cannot afford that weight luxury.

The box-like fuel cells mix liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen to form water and, in the process, create electrical power.

Each fuel cell contains three sections. Hydrogen is piped into one chamber under pressure, oxygen into another. As they filter into a third section, they are broken down into charged particles which produce electricity. When the minute particles of each gas meet, water is formed.

The conferees finally took the House version—one year only—but the House negotiators agreed to support a longer-term authorization next time.

The authorization bill, however, only sets a maximum for the actual appropriation, which must be considered later.

Some members of Congress are unhappy about the U.S. decision not to try to deprive the Soviet Union, France and other countries delinquent in their United Nations peacekeeping assessments of their votes in the U.N. Assembly.

Every year someone makes the gesture of trying to eliminate or reduce U.N. funds in the appropriation bills. This year the effort may be pushed harder. The State Department appropriation, which contains the basic U.S. dues to the United Nations, already has been enacted, but funds for various U.N. agencies are in the foreign aid appropriation measure.

But the agreement reached Tuesday by House and Senate conferees on reconciling the two versions of the foreign aid authorization bill clears away one stubborn obstacle. The discussions had been going on intermittently since June 18. The agreement came during the conferees' 14th meeting.

Johnson's requests for foreign aid totaled $3.469 billion. The $3.36 billion figure finally approved includes $1.7 billion in military assistance abroad, the remainder in economic aid.

Both chambers are expected promptly to approve the compromise, which comes up for action in the House probably Thursday. The principal issue resolved was the duration of the authorization. Rhodes' Job Claim Rapped By Solon

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes has been accused of "falsely claiming to have increased the number of jobs in Ohio under his administration by 209,000."

The charge was made Tuesday night by State Rep. Harry H. McIlwain of Cincinnati, who said, "The awful truth is that Ohio has only gained 14,000 jobs in the period from 1960 through 1964, while its population over 18 years of age has increased by 135,000."

McIlwain spoke at a Butler County Young Democrats meeting.

He quoted an Aug. 2 study by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland and said, "The report showed that among Ohio's major cities only Columbus and Dayton kept pace with the nation's 5.5 per cent growth in jobs, while Cleveland and Akron had gains of less than 1 per cent."

"Cincinnati was in the shocking position of actually having fewer jobs than in 1960," McIlwain added.

Editors List Own Ideas on Trial News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two newspaper editors have advised Congress to rely on voluntary restraints rather than pass legislation curbing the publication of news about criminal cases not yet decided.

The two, Sam Ragan, executive editor of the News and Observer and the Raleigh Times, Raleigh, N.C., and Alfred Friendly, vice president and managing editor of the Washington Post, were joined by the Justice Department Tuesday in opposing a bill introduced by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., aimed at insuring unprejudiced trials.

Ragan is the immediate past president of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association. Friendly is chairman of the pressbar committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Both of the editors told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee that special committees set up by newspaper organizations are searching for the best way to balance the guarantees of free press and fair trial.

Ragan said he does not regard a free press and a fair trial as incompatible, but rather "it is my belief that there cannot be a fair trial without a free press."

Friendly argued that forbidding lawyers, police and prosecutors from saying anything that might prejudice a future trial might "easily become a means to lower an iron curtain behind which prejudiced or corrupt police and courts could enjoy invulnerability."

Morse was the only witness in favor of his bill on the opening day of the hearings.

Groundbreaking Held Here For New Motel on Route 23

FLIES IN FOR CEREMONY — Cleo Ludwig (right), president of L-K Enterprises Inc., flew his private plane here for today's groundbreaking ceremony at the proposed motel-restaurant site south of Circleville. Greeting Ludwig is Gail Wacker, president of the Pickaway Motel Corp.

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held today for a motel-restaurant project that will exceed one-half million dollars upon completion.

The proposed Quality Courts Motel and L-K Restaurant will be located immediately south of Circleville on the west side of Route 23. The site is opposite Logan Elm Village.

Many city and county officials were on hand for the groundbreaking in addition to executives of the new Pickaway Motel Corp., architectural firm representatives and others associated with the proposal.

Flying here for the ceremony in his private single-engine plane was Cleo Ludwig, president of Ludwig-Kibbey Enterprises Inc. Ludwig-Kibbey is the firm that will be responsible for the restaurant. L-K has about 20 restaurants in the Central Ohio area with another 15 under construction, including the local addition.

DIRECTORS of the Pickaway Motel Corp. performed the honors this morning with the initial shovel of dirt. They were Gail Wacker of Lancaster, president; Cleo Ludwig of Marion, vice president; Otto F. Guenther of Circleville, secretary and David Carruthers of Canal Winchester, treasurer.

Initially the motel will have 50 units with another 78-unit expansion planned. Included will be a swimming pool and parking area.

Quality Court Motels, Inc., which granted a franchise for the local venture, requires any motel using its trademark to maintain an establishment that is recognized by the motoring public as meeting high uniform standards by passing frequent rigid inspections. The franchised motel must feature free phone - ahead reservation service, dining facilities, a swimming pool, air conditioned rooms, free TV and other courtesy equipment and services.

In addition to regular dining facilities, the restaurant will have banquet and party rooms available. A D-5 liquor license has been granted by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control. The license will permit the sale of beer, wine and liquors by-the-glass until 2:30 a. m.

Gene Swartz, Chillicothe, is handling the architectural work for the Pickaway Motel Corp. Plans and blueprints of the motel and restaurant have already been turned over to contractors and groundwork is well under way.

Indications are both facilities will be completed "early next year." A construction superintendent noted today that "Christmas dinner could be served in the restaurant" if weather permits crews to work steadily.

BOTH the restaurant and motel will be serviced completely by electricity, the same as Logan Elm Village is across the highway.

Wacker is also president of his own business, Wacker Realty Inc., Lancaster. He is one of the original developers of a shopping center in Lancaster and spearheaded the devel-liquid form, hydrogen must be kept at 423 degrees below zero and oxygen at 297 degrees below zero.

Pressure to push the fuels into the third chamber is provided by heating the supercold fuels, converting them to a gas. Sources said that apparently the hydrogen was "heating" at a faster rate than scheduled and the excess gas was escaping through a vent, thus using the hydrogen too fast.

If the fuel cells should fail in flight, the astronauts would have enough battery power to remain in space three to four hours before returning to earth. Cooper and Conrad, meanwhile, prepared to make final preparations for the flight, the longest ever attempted by man.

Before the fuel cell problem, mission director E. E. Christensen had given the green light for the launching. The decision came after flight controllers conducted a review of all elements of the flight and the astronauts received their final major physical examinations.

Chiang Aid To Viet Nam Under Study

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, South Viet Nam's premier, announced today Nationalist China will send military study missions to his embattled country in the near future.

A joint communique hinted President Chiang Kai-Shek's government, which has about 500,000 men under arms, might send troops. Premier C. K. Yen and Ky drew up this document.

The communique said the Taipei regime has decided to increase technical and material assistance to South Viet Nam and "is prepared to respond to other requests for assistance from the government of the Republic of South Viet Nam as a contribution to the struggle against the common enemy."

Ky told a news conference he and Chiang discussed the question of sending Chinese Nationalist troops to South Viet Nam.

He and Chiang are "in 100 per cent agreement on various problems, but I don't think today is the time to disclose the details," the South Vietnamese leader said.

Ky said his visit to Formosa was not simply a courtesy call — "it really means something." He said the military study missions may arrive next month.

Senate Panel Okays Funds For Viet Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $1.7 billion emergency fund to help pay costs of the Viet Nam conflict was approved today by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

This amount was asked by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara on Aug. 4. The Senate committee added it to a multi-billion dollar annual defense money bill previously passed by the House.

Sen. John Stennis, D - Miss., who will be floor manager of the bill, said the new funds are "a small down payment upon the ever increasing cost of our operations in Viet Nam."

He said he believes that "on an annual basis at least $7 billion to $10 billion in additional funds will be required to support our combat operations in Viet Nam and to replace equipment diverted there."

The Senate committee action pushed the total of the annual defense money bill to $46,756,319,000.

The Senate bill, like the one passed by the House, rejected McNamara's plan for a start on merger of the Army National Guard and reserves, and a cut-back in their paid drill strength.

night in a week of "the closest thing possible to normal life."

There was even a football game. The riot death toll, however, rose to 34 with the death Tuesday night of a 47-year-old Negro woman. She was cut down by a National Guard machine gun Saturday as she crashed a roadblock.

The death figure was one short of the toll in the 1943 Detroit race riot—worst in recent times. Thirty-eight lives were lost in a 1919 Chicago riot.

Still-wary Watts residents worked to put their daily living in order. The National Guard withdrew some of its troops and the outside help flowed in.

Torches fired 536 buildings in Watts, destroyed 201, and caused damage conservatively estimated at $175 million. Looting accounted for untold additional millions.

City and federal economic opportunity officials met Tuesday and promised that Los Angeles' antipoverty program would be instituted as soon as possible.

THE second of the two ordinances was for the transfer of $1,200 from one subsection of the Sewage Disposal Fund to another. Both ordinances are to take effect immediately after passage and approval by the mayor.

Council also received a complaint that Ronald Culp, E. Mill St., was constructing a building that is in violation of zoning regulations. The proposed building is to be used as an apary. It was also noted that lumber was being stored at the site and creating a fire hazard.

Harold Clifton, council president, was absent for the brief meeting due to a business engagement.

In addition to Thomas, the Columbus Association will be represented by Leroy Stevenson, field assistant; Wm. W. Betz, Amanda, president and Walter Lee, Delaware and Lewis Hay, Lockbourne, directors. This is more than they borrowed in any full year prior to 1964. The Columbus Association, together with 77 other such associations in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee, own all the capital stock of The Federal Land Bank of Louisville on behalf of their 39,000 farmer members.

pher, who was with one of the units that reached the top of the hill, said Marine Corps jets were called in and struck Viet Cong positions about 150 yards away with napalm.

"Suddenly there was no firing at all," Page said.

The photographer was slightly wounded by shell fragments.

Medical evacuation helicopters flew in about 15 minutes later, other sources said, and carried out the first casualties.

American briefing officers in Saigon said their first reports listed one Viet Cong killed, one wounded and two suspects detained in the opening phase of the operation. Persons in the Chulai area, however, said heavy casualties were believed suffered on both sides.

The action centered on the Van Tuong peninsula. A reconnaissance company had reported Tuesday that a Viet Cong regiment plus, which could mean as many as 2,000 men, had concentrated on the peninsula, which is dotted with a complex of villages.

It was on the basis of this report that the Marines moved in for what the briefing officer called "the biggest thing we've ever had."

The Marine action included a special landing force that swarmed ashore from U.S. 7th Fleet vessels standing off the coast.

These ships included the aircraft carrier two Jima, an attack transport, two destroyers and a cruiser.

Of Moles and Chameleons

By John Chamberlain

If you see a mole-run, it's only common sense to suspect that a mole must be the cause of it. And it's always easy to see where a mole-run goes.

Well, what sort of mole-run was presented by the so-called Assembly of Unrepresented People which invaded the Capitol grounds the other day in Washington and, like Coxe's Army in the Eighteen Nineties, was arrested for stopping traffic or walking on the grass?

One leader of the march on the Capitol was Staughton Lynd, a professor of history at Yale University. Lynd is a Quaker. He is also an admirer of old Henry David Thoreau, who refused to pay taxes to support the Mexican War back in the Eighteen Forties. Thinking, no doubt, to emulate his master, Lynd refused to pay that portion of his income tax last spring which, in his judgment, would have been used to defray the expenses of the war in Vietnam. Thoreau, a believer in freedom, would very probably have paid his taxes to keep the Communists from overrunning South Vietnam. At least that's my guess.

Nobody should put any specific tag on the mole-manship of Professor Lynd. But what are we to make of it when a mole is also a chameleon? Just a few short months ago Staughton Lynd was hot for the civil rights cause. The Washington march of the Assembly of Unrepresented People was billed as a demonstration for peace and civil rights. But the march which Staughton Lynd helped run was not a civil rights march. Its objective was to get Congress to stop the war in Vietnam. Forgotten were the Negroes of Mississippi.

More and more it appears that the Left has pulled a switch in its strategy for disturbing the welkin in the U.S. It still makes use of the American Negroes. It still sings "We Shall Overcome." But its single aim now is to overcome Lyndon Johnson's hopes for attaining a peace with honor in Asia.

What sort of mole burrowing does this represent? And who were the "unrepresented people" whom the Assembly of Unrepresented People was professing to represent? What was the Assembly trying to prove by its "petition in boots" that ended with the mass arrests in Washington?

If the Assembly was marching for purely pacifistic reasons, why weren't they carrying at least a few signs calling for the Viet Cong to stop torturing South Vietnamese who want only to be left in peace? Why weren't they flying at least a few banners aimed at Castro's firing squads? Why weren't they protesting Nasser's shipments of rifles to Central Africa?

If the Assembly was marching to get non-whites the vote, or, as was advertised, to try to unseat some of the Representatives from Mississippi in Congress, why the total silence on alleged domestic U. S. shortcomings? Or, for that matter, why a silence on the kind of election laws they have in Cuba, North Vietnam, Red China, Soviet Russia, Tito's Yugoslavia, Kadar's Hungary, the three little Baltic States, East Germany and Poland?

The burrowing done by the moles - turned - chameleon in the march of the Assembly of Unrepresented People was all in one direction. The extreme Left, in America, has only one abiding interest at the moment, and that is to defeat the foreign policy of the U. S.

Insofar as the Negroes have been used to the end of disrupting U. S. foreign policy, it is a tragedy. For it gives aid and comfort to all the anti-logic crew who hold that it is atheistic, communistic, anarchistic and what-have-you when a member of an ethnic minority stands up and declares that he, too, should be covered by the provisions of the U. S. Bill of Rights, which was written for all citizens.

I don't know anything about what goes on in Professor Staughton Lynd's mind. But, I'm telling him and other members of the Assembly of Unrepresented People that the Negroes of the United States have been had. And by the very people who, just yesterday, were professing the fiercest undying allegiance to the Negro cause.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE DAY not long ago a big truck, a police car, and a taxicab all managed to bang into each other at a busy Madison Avenue corner in New York. The three drivers, all enraged, used some very interesting language. A pedestrian, newly arrived upon the scene, inquired, "Anybody killed?" An onlooker there answered hopefully, "Not yet."

Astronaut Edward White made a lady author very happy at a Houston, Tex., reception recently. "Ma'am," he told her admiringly, "I was reading your book while we were in orbit the other day—and I just couldn't put it down!"

Every great comedian has in the back of his head a fantastic repertoire of jokes for all occasions—with a few sure-fire favorites especially saved for tight situations and those occasional horrible audiences who are determined to sit on their hands and never crack a smile.

Here are a couple of the big-timers' stand-bys:

Victor Borge: "I now will play for you Franz Liszt's 'Liebestraum'—and the Steinway Company has requested that I be sure to tell you I'm playing it on a Baldwin piano."

Ed Wynn: "The next act will feature a terrific pair of jugglers—accompanied by a little music in a jugular vein."

Groucho Marx (feeling a patient's pulse): "Either this man is dead or my watch has stopped."

Bert Lahr: "I've got Bright's disease—and he's got mine."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Is there a simple way to remove a cinder from the eye? Most dust particles and cinders are cleaned away by the tears that flow freely when the eye becomes irritated.

Don't rub the eye, this can further imbed a foreign body rather than dislodge it.

When the speck is seen on the lids or on the white part of the eye, a quick touch with the moistened tip of a handkerchief can remove it. If the speck is seen on the central part of the eye, the cornea, leave it alone. Damage can be done to the eye by attempting to remove it. This needs professional help.

If, despite simple procedures, the pain persists, the eye must be examined with specialized light machines to be sure there is no damage to the delicate covering of the eyeball.

What happens when food goes down the "wrong" tube? There are two tubes that lead from the mouth. They lie next to each other.

The one in front carries air down into the lungs. The air passes from the mouth, through the larynx, into the trachea and then enters the bronchi of the lungs.

The back tube is the esophagus. Food passes into the stomach through this tube.

Occasionally, but rarely a small piece of food may fall into the larynx, the wrong tube. Nature's remarkable defense closes off the larynx by a spasm and expels the offender by severe coughing.

In most instances the spasm disappears quickly and is not a threat to life.

Is it necessary to get typhoid injections before going to Europe? Most European countries are remarkably free from typhoid. The strict supervision of water and milk makes pollution a rarity. Nevertheless occasional outbreaks of typhoid do occur even under the most rigid controls.

It is wise to be immunized against typhoid and paratyphoid if travel in underprivileged areas is expected. Parts of Asia, the Orient, Africa and South America have a higher frequency of these diseases.

An excellent precaution is to follow the suggestions of the United States Public Health Service and the Medical Departments of the armed forces. They insist on immunization for travelers against typhoid, cholera and yellow fever in any suspicious area.

Can the body function properly if the thyroid gland is removed by surgery?

The thyroid gland is rarely removed in its entirety except in severe cases of cancer.

More often only a small part of the gland is removed for a nodule, tumor, goiter or for an overactive thyroid. In most instances this does not produce any unusual body changes.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — Plans for improving the world's money and credit arrangements are sprouting fast these days. And a real but polite donnybrook may develop behind doors at the September meeting in Washington of the members of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund.

Some ideas on how to finance world economic growth are pretty far out from Uncle Sam's point of view.

Proposals range from letting matters work themselves out to setting up an entirely new kind of monetary reserve just for use when financial dealings between nations and foreign traders get sticky. This new species of international money would supersede the present way of paying bills in gold, dollars, pounds or other national currencies.

Here are some of the plans, likely and unlikely, from the conservative to the radical:

French President Charles de Gaulle proposes the world go back to a full gold standard, abandoned in the early 1930s. Opponents contend there isn't enough gold available to back the money and credit needed in today's greatly expanded world economy.

Another proposal is to make foreign exchange rates flexible, so that a currency can expand or contract in line with deficits or surpluses. Some would swell all nations' reserves at once. Others would expand a nation's reserves only when its needs are obvious.

The above proposals have little effective backing so far.

A sizable following is claimed for a plan to change the International Monetary Fund from a regulating and lending to a money-creating central bank. This would provide a new world currency for transaction of business between nations.

Others plug for creating a Collective Reserve Unit — CRU.

This would be backed by the currencies of the 10 biggest financial powers in fixed proportions. Nations would hold the new CRU in their reserves along with gold, dollars, etc. They would use CRU to settle accounts among themselves.

France wants CRU backed by gold instead of national currencies. The United States fears this would mean raising the price of gold and thus devaluing the dollar.

A more conservative approach, and the one believed favored by U.S. monetary authorities, is to keep the 103-nation International Monetary Fund a dominant factor in any new plan. This would make any new kind of reserve, CRU or otherwise, only a supplement to present reserves of gold and dollars.

Next: When will the United States and others be ready to try something new?

Less Beatnik Danger, Too

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

A family with an annual income of $6,600 spends about $24,000 to raise a child to age 18. Twenty years ago a family earning $3,000 a year could bring a youngster up for $9,000 — and faced less danger of winding up with a beatnik.

Do you know what fruit product is used most often in the American home? It's coffee, old bean.

India is one of the world's hungriest nations. It is estimated that three out of four of her 483 million people get less than the 2,500 daily calories needed for good health.

The price of freedom: Since Japanese women have been granted more equal rights, medics have found an increase in high blood pressure among them. But they still outlive the average Japanese man, 72.8 years to his 67.6.

The price of peace in a cold war era: Secretary of State Dean Rusk figures the United States has spent $600 billion on defense since the end of World War II.

Who litter up our city streets? A survey found that men are worse offenders in this respect than women. Women are kept so busy cluttering up their bathrooms that they don't have time to litter up the streets.

Our quotable notables: "It's only in the upper-class level that each husband sits next to the other man's wife"—Louis Kronenberger.

Prosperity note: America has only about 6 per cent of the world's population—but more than 22 per cent of its drug stores.

South Viet Nam may have had nine or ten changes of government in the last few years, but Bolivia may hold the record for political restlessness. That country has had some 179 revolutions. By the time an official learns where to hang his coat and hat he may be out of office.

Quips from our contemporaries: "Newest fad is the banana and coconut diet. You won't lose weight, but after two weeks you can climb any tree in America"—Catholic Digest.

Life is getting lovelier all the time: A whisky-scented soap made in bottle-shaped bars is being sold in Austria. Du Pont may become the postman's best friend. It is marketing something called "dog-stopper," a new push-button aerosol which fends off angry dogs by spraying them with a harmless white foam.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ONE DAY not long ago a big truck, a police car, and a taxicab all managed to bang into each other at a busy Madison Avenue corner in New York. The three drivers, all enraged, used some very interesting language. A pedestrian, newly arrived upon the scene, inquired, "Anybody killed?" An onlooker there answered hopefully, "Not yet."

Astronaut Edward White made a lady author very happy at a Houston, Tex., reception recently. "Ma'am," he told her admiringly, "I was reading your book while we were in orbit the other day—and I just couldn't put it down!"

Every great comedian has in the back of his head a fantastic repertoire of jokes for all occasions—with a few sure-fire favorites especially saved for tight situations and those occasional horrible audiences who are determined to sit on their hands and never crack a smile.

Here are a couple of the big-timers' stand-bys:

Victor Borge: "I now will play for you Franz Liszt's 'Liebestraume'—and the Steinway Company has requested that I be sure to tell you I'm playing it on a Baldwin piano."

Ed Wynn: "The next act will feature a terrific pair of jugglers —accompanied by a little music in a jugular vein."

Groucho Marx (feeling a patient's pulse): "Either this man is dead or my watch has stopped."

Bert Lahr: "I've got Bright's disease—and he's got mine."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Is there a simple way to remove a cinder from the eye? Most dust particles and cinders are cleaned away by the tears that flow freely when the eye becomes irritated.

Don't rub the eye, this can further imbed a foreign body rather than dislodge it.

When the speck is seen on the lids or on the white part of the eye, a quick touch with the moistened tip of a handkerchief can remove it. If the speck is seen on the central part of the eye, the cornea, leave it alone. Damage can be done to the eye by attempting to remove it. This needs professional help.

If, despite simple procedures, the pain persists, the eye must be examined with specialized light machines to be sure there is no damage to the delicate covering of the eyeball.

What happens when food goes down the "wrong" tube? There are two tubes that lead from the mouth. They lie next to each other.

The one in front carries air down into the lungs. The air passes from the mouth, through the larynx, into the trachea and then enters the bronchi of the lungs.

The back tube is the esophagus. Food passes into the stomach through this tube.

Occasionally, but rarely a small piece of food may fall into the larynx, the wrong tube. Nature's remarkable defense closes off the larynx by a spasm and expels the offender by severe coughing.

In most instances the spasm disappears quickly and is not a threat to life.

Is it necessary to get typhoid injections before going to Europe? Most European countries are remarkably free from typhoid. The strict supervision of water and milk makes pollution a rarity. Nevertheless occasional outbreaks of typhoid do occur even under the most rigid controls.

It is wise to be immunized against typhoid and paratyphoid if travel in underprivileged areas is expected. Parts of Asia, the Orient, Africa and South America have a higher frequency of these diseases.

An excellent precaution is to follow the suggestions of the United States Public Health Service and the Medical Departments of the armed forces. They insist on immunization for travelers against typhoid, cholera and yellow fever in any suspicious area.

Islanders Still Talking About the 'Hawaii' Mutiny

HONOLULU (AP) — Out here they're still talking about the "Hawaii" mutiny.

Some islanders believe this one puts other mutinies to shame. The Bounty? A trifling affair — and who needed all those breadfruit trees, anyway? The Caine? Much ado about some stolen strawberries.

Now the mutiny on "Hawaii" was another matter entirely. There was no Bligh, no Queeg. It was simply a clash between high-powered corporate thinking and the gentle spirit of Polynesia. The pawn: an investment of 10 to 20 million dollars. Here is the picture of the mutiny I drew from the survivors: After filming in Norway, New England and Hollywood, the "Hawaii" company came to Oahu with high hopes and budget to match. Back at the office, the movie's backers watched the budget climb higher and higher. Finished film was returning to Hollywood at a sluggish rate.

United Artists and Mirisch Brothers brass arrived at the classic solution for such affairs: fire the director.

George Roy Hill was being sacked, said the bosses. Arthur Hill, who was waiting in the plush bullpen of a Waikiki hotel, was to replace him.

What had gone wrong?

Said star Max Von Sydow: "There were three problems — we ran into a lot of rain; working on the sailing ships consumed a lot of time; and the number of unprofessional actors required time and patience on George's part."

"There was never a question about the quality of the film," added Julie Andrews. "When the trouble arose, we asked to see what had been shot, and we found it excellent."

But the corporate minds saw the tab pushing from $10 million to $12 million and perhaps beyond. They decided Hill must go.

They reckoned without the simple loyalty of the Polynesian people.

An imposing figure among the amateur actors recruited for "Hawaii" is Jocelyn Lagarde, a 300-pound Tahitian who was signed to play the Hawaiian Queen Malama. She knew no English before the film, and Hill had directed her with infinite care.

When she heard the director was fired, she issued the edict: no Hill, no Malama. She would sail home to Tahiti.

Manu Taunao, a Fijian who portrays her son in the film, agreed that he would quit the movie if Hill were canned. Hawaiian extras also threatened to balk, and the casting workers who hired them resigned their jobs.

Now the bosses were caught in the middle. Reshooting with a new native cast might shoot the budget up to $20 million. They acquiesced. Hill was rehired, and Hiller flew back to the mainland.

When Hill reported to the set the day afterward, he was greeted with applause and kisses from his loyal cast. Last Sunday the natives tendered him a luau, complete with roast pig, poi, raw octopus and hula dances. For years they will be talking around beach fires about the mutiny that was a success.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad announced the train, established in 1885, is operating with substantial losses. The Flyer made the regular run in 20 hours.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — One of the nation's first long-distance passenger trains, the Dixie Flyer, makes its last 730-mile run from Atlanta to Evansville, Ind., Sept. 21.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad announced the train, established in 1885, is operating with substantial losses. The Flyer made the regular run in 20 hours.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Not this year but maybe next year, or the next year, or the next, will bring some kind of overhaul in foreign aid which has cost the government $111 billion in the past 20 years.

But the program in some form seems destined to go on indefinitely. Congress is about to authorize spending $3.36 billion more on it for another year. So it turns out, this is another pretty good victory for President Johnson.

Earlier this year in an interview David E. Bell, head of the Agency for International Development, which handles foreign aid, was asked if he could foresee the day when it would come to an end.

He said: Yes, certainly. But he didn't say when. He pointed out that various programs of aid to European countries have come to an orderly finish. He expects the same to happen elsewhere, he said.

This year there was the usual irritation and agitation about foreign aid in Congress, which traditionally has approved continuing it but on a year-by-year basis.

One of the most discontented was also one of the most powerful men in the Senate, J. W. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

Military and economic assistance have always been lumped together, requiring Congress to approve them in a single parcel. Fulbright wanted them separated. The Senate wouldn't buy the idea. Neither would the House.

Fulbright called this lumping together "a garbage can . . . and conglomeration" of all sorts of amendments which have nothing to do with foreign aid. He asked: How could any senator know what he was voting for or against?

But his opposite number had some things to say, setting his teeth against any major changes. In the end he won. This was Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, Pennsylvania Democrat and chairman of the House For-

Dayton Man Killed

MANFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Marvin J. Plummer, 57, of Dayton was killed Tuesday in an auto-truck crash on Interstate 71 about 10 miles south of here.

The Highway Patrol said Plummer's northbound car passed a semi-trailer outfit, but hit another big rig in the rear as he attempted to move back into the right-hand lane.

High above Ground

esign Affairs Committee.

He said foreign aid is "not a miracle vaccine that will make every country in the world immune to communists. But it is vital to our security" and it has "enable us to win important battles."

The Senate, but not the House, did buy an idea of Sen. Wayne Morse, Oregon Democrat: Instead of continuing aid on a yearly basis, end it in two years to force President Johnson to revamp it. Then, revised, it could continue.

Since there were differences in what the House and Senate authorized, they had to set up a committee to reach a compromise. They met 14 times over two months and finally came to agreement Tuesday because the Senate backed down.

The Senate proposal to end the program in two years was dropped. Instead, the conferees agreed on suggesting a committee be created to think up some new approaches on foreign aid.

The House agreed that next year, when the program comes up again, Congress may consider extending it for "two or more years" at a time. That's about as vague as an agreement can be.

Considering the way Congress had slashed other presidents' aid programs, it treated Johnson very well.

He had asked $3.38 billion, plus $89 million to finance the start of an economic and social program in Southeast Asia. The conference committee's agreement to let him have $3.36 billion included the $89 million.

It's usually routine for both houses to approve what their compromise committees agree on. House and Senate are expected to do that in this case quickly.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren
The Sum and Substance!

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter has announced that when she turns 18, in four months, she is getting married, and she wants "the whole show," as she puts it. She says the girl's father is supposed to pay for everything. Her father makes $5600 a year. There are three other children in the home, all younger. We are buying a $12,000 home and have a 30-year mortgage with 23 years left to pay. How much do parents owe their children?

Should we borrow money to put on "the whole show"? I think if our daughter wants that kind of wedding, she should go to work, save her money and put it on herself.

I would like to add that when I got married, I didn't even get a wedding present from my folks. I knew they couldn't afford it. I asked for nothing, expected nothing and got nothing. But I loved them and I knew they loved me, too. What makes young people today think that everything they want they have coming to them?

JUST PLAIN MA

DEAR MA: Your question is a good one. Young people who have been waited on and handed money for nothing develop the something-for-nothing attitude. Apparently your daughter hasn't been taught that a family is a team, and each member has to pull his share of the load and make a few sacrifices if necessary. If a girl is old enough to multiply, she's old enough to add. Tell her you cannot afford "the whole show" and ring down the curtain on the whole subject.

DEAR ABBY: What is a girl supposed to do when her boy friend acts very, very affectionate to her in private, but like he never saw her before when they are in public?

SALLY

DEAR SALLY: Rejoice! It's better than having him act very, very affectionate in public, and like he never saw her before in private.

DEAR ABBY: I am a man in my mid-40's, and I have always wanted to carry a cane, even though I am in good physical condition and do not need one to aid my walking. Is there any etiquette involved in this? Is it proper for a man to carry a cane only for "appearance's" sake? Or do you think it will look like an affliction?

WANTS A CANE

DEAR ABBY: Many men carry canes for "appearances." It lends a touch of elegance, providing the man is well-groomed handsomely attired, and can carry a cane with grace. If you fit that description, get a cane.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure the woman and her husband who ask the waitresses a lot of personal questions must have been sitting at my station. You would not believe how many people come in and ask, "What kind of accent do you have?" "Did you marry a G.I.?" "Since you did not marry a G. I., where did you meet your husband?"

I don't mind answering a few questions from a nice little couple who just want to make conversation. But once in a while you get a real pill, and the only way to stop him is to put him in his place by reversing the question and replying, "I met my husband in California. Where did you meet your wife?" This usually causes a stunned silence. But it always works.

DeAngelis Handed Jail Term on Two Criminal Charges

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Anthony (Tino) DeAngelis was sentenced to 20 years in federal prison today on charges of conspiracy and fraud stemming from the collapse of his multi-million vegetable oil empire.

He drew two consecutive 10-year sentences, along with concurrent terms of five and 10 years on four separate counts to which he had pleaded guilty. The judge denied a motion to have all sentences run concurrently.

LIKES ROBBERIES—Nancy Gillespie, 24, married five times and an admitted participant in some 50 breakins in the last six months, says in Detroit that she did it for "kicks, because I didn't need the money. And I intend to do it again when I get out of jail." That will be in three to five years. She is from Pontiac, Mich.

Crash Claims Woman

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — An Erie County woman was injured fatally Tuesday when her car collided with a tractor-trailer truck on U.S. 6 near Bradner, 20 miles east of here. The victim was Mrs. Martha Ward of Ruggles Beach. Wood County sheriff's deputies said the truck, driven by Louis Frenzi of Franklin, Mass. crossed over the center line and struck Mrs. Ward's car on the left side.

Assistance for Chile

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Inter-American Development Bank has announced a $3-million credit to Chile as the start of a new plan to spur planning of development projects in Latin America. Similar credits are under consideration to other countries.

Honor for Jackie

LONDON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy has become the River Thames Society's first honorary member, the society's president, Robert Gresham Cooke, says.

DeAngelis had been given a nominal maximum sentence of 10 years in May on the same charges. However, the judge invoked a seldom used federal law which provided that he be brought back to court in three months for reconsideration.

He could have been freed on probation or resented to the 10 years originally imposed.

U.S. District Judge Reynier J. Wortendyke Jr. said before DeAngelis' appearance today that the 10-year sentence might be reimposed, shortened, or DeAngelis could be freed on probation.

DeAngelis had been undergoing psychiatric tests at the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa. Wortendyke received a report of the tests earlier this month.

DeAngelis pleaded guilty Jan. 8 to circulating fraudulent warehouse receipts and admitted conspiring to circulate $100 million in forged receipts.

He built the nation's largest vegetable oil refining operation in Bayonne in 1955. The company, Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp., at one time supplied about 75 per cent of the soybean and cottonseed oil exported by the U.S.

But many of the firm's operations were based on money borrowed on warehouse receipts listing huge stocks on non-existent vegetable oil.

When the firm plunged into bankruptcy in November 1963, creditors found nearly empty storage tanks.

Creditors holding worthless receipts filed claims totaling $190 million against two storage companies whose job it was to verify that the commodities listed were in the tanks. In all, about 15 companies filed for bankruptcy as the scandal unfolded.

Big Party Planned

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — New Orleans is planning a half-million-dollar party for its 250th birthday in 1968, says Mayor Victor Schiro. He said it would be "one of the greatest celebrations held anywhere."

Customers Benefit

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — The Central Maine Power Co. has announced plans to put into effect Sept. 1 retail cuts saving customers $600,000 a year.

President William H. Dunham said all domestic consumers using more than 300 kilowatt hours a month would benefit, as would most large industrial and commercial users.

DeAngelis Handed Jail Term on Two Criminal Charges

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Anthony (Tino) DeAngelis was sentenced to 20 years in federal prison today on charges of conspiracy and fraud stemming from the collapse of his multi-million vegetable oil empire.

He drew two consecutive 10-year sentences, along with concurrent terms of five and 10 years on four separate counts to which he had pleaded guilty. The judge denied a motion to have all sentences run concurrently.

LIKES ROBBERIES—Nancy Gillespie, 24, married five times and an admitted participant in some 50 breakins in the last six months, says in Detroit that she did it for "kicks, because I didn't need the money. And I intend to do it again when I get out of jail." That will be in three to five years. She is from Pontiac, Mich.

Crash Claims Woman

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — An Erie County woman was injured fatally Tuesday when her car collided with a tractor-trailer truck on U.S. 6 near Bradner, 20 miles east of here. The victim was Mrs. Martha Ward of Ruggles Beach, Wood County sheriff's deputies said the truck, driven by Louis Frenzi of Franklin, Mass. crossed over the center line and struck Mrs. Wood's car on the left side.

Assistance for Chile

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Inter-American Development Bank has announced a $3-million credit to Chile as the start of a new plan to spur planning of development projects in Latin America. Similar credits are under consideration to other countries.

Honor for Jackie

LONDON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy has become the River Thames Society's first honorary member, the society's president, Robert Gresham Cooke, says.

DeAngelis had been given a nominal maximum sentence of 10 years in May on the same charges. However, the judge invoked a seldom used federal law which provided that he be brought back to court in three months for reconsideration.

He could have been freed on probation or sentenced to the 10 years originally imposed.

U.S. District Judge Reynier J. Wortendyke Jr. said before DeAngelis' appearance today that the 10-year sentence might be reimposed, shortened, or DeAngelis could be freed on probation.

DeAngelis had been undergoing psychiatric tests at the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa. Wortendyke received a report of the tests earlier this month.

DeAngelis pleaded guilty Jan. 8 to circulating fraudulent warehouse receipts and admitted conspiring to circulate $100 million in forged receipts.

He built the nation's largest vegetable oil refining operation in Bayonne in 1955. The company, Allied Crude Vegetable Oil Refining Corp., at one time supplied about 75 per cent of the soybean and cottonseed oil exported by the U.S.

But many of the firm's operations were based on money borrowed on warehouse receipts listing huge stocks on non-existent vegetable oil.

When the firm plunged into bankruptcy in November 1963, creditors found nearly empty storage tanks.

Creditors holding worthless receipts filed claims totaling $190 million against two storage companies whose job it was to verify that the commodities listed were in the tanks. In all, about 15 companies filed for bankruptcy as the scandal unfolded.

Big Party Planned

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — New Orleans is planning a half-million-dollar party for its 250th birthday in 1968, says Mayor Victor Schiro. He said it would be "one of the greatest celebrations held anywhere."

Customers Benefit

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — The Central Maine Power Co. has announced plans to put into effect Sept. 1 retail cuts saving customers $600,000 a year.

President William H. Dunham said all domestic consumers using more than 300 kilowatt hours a month would benefit, as would most large industrial and commercial users.

U.S. Stand on Payments Greeted by Mixed Reaction

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. diplomats were elated today over the new U.S. policy ending the threat of a U.S.-Soviet showdown over unpaid peacekeeping assessments. The diplomats agreed that the U.S. retreat, announced by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, opens the way for resumption of normal operations of the General Assembly after a year of paralysis.

The American abandonment of the fight to force the Russians to pay up drew approval and condemnation from members of the U.S. Congress. Officials of the Johnson administration anticipated a new campaign for a close look at future requests for U.S. money for the United Nations.

Reaction from Soviet delegates to the United Nations was cautious, but chief delegate Platon D. Morozov commented that "unless we are mistaken and deluded" there is now substantial agreement on normalization of the assembly's work.

He added, however, that the Soviet Union wanted firm guarantees and not just a statement that the United States had decided not to invoke Article 19 of the U.N. Charter. This article provides that a member country will lose its vote in the assembly if it falls two years behind in paying assessments. The Soviet Union, France and 11 other countries are in this category because of refusal to pay for peacekeeping operations.

Britain's Lord Caradon said Goldberg had delivered "a remarkable speech." It was the first U.N. speech of the former Supreme Court justice since he succeeded the late Adlai E. Stevenson last month as chief U.S. delegate.

Goldberg said that because of majority opinion in the world organization, the United States had abandoned its attempts to enforce the voting penalty in Article 19. He said private polls among diplomats and U.N. officials had shown that a majority was not prepared to enforce the charter provision.

"We will not seek to frustrate that consensus," he said, "since it is not in the world interest to have the work of the General Assembly immobilized in these troubled days."

U.S. Stand on Payments Greeted by Mixed Reaction

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. diplomats were elated today over the new U.S. policy ending the threat of a U.S.-Soviet showdown over unpaid peacekeeping assessments.

The diplomats agreed that the U.S. retreat, announced by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, opens the way for resumption of normal operations of the General Assembly after a year of paralysis.

The American abandonment of the fight to force the Russians to pay up drew approval and condemnation from members of the U.S. Congress. Officials of the Johnson administration anticipated a new campaign for a close look at future requests for U.S. money for the United Nations.

Reaction from Soviet delegates to the United Nations was cautious, but chief delegate Platon D. Morozov commented that "unless we are mistaken and deluded" there is now substantial agreement on normalization of the assembly's work.

He added, however, that the Soviet Union wanted firm guarantees and not just a statement that the United States had decided not to invoke Article 19 of the U.N. Charter. This article provides that a member country will lose its vote in the assembly if it falls two years behind in paying assessments. The Soviet Union, France and 11 other countries are in this category because of refusal to pay for peacekeeping operations.

Britain's Lord Caradon said Goldberg had delivered "a remarkable speech." It was the first U.N. speech of the former Supreme Court justice since he succeeded the late Adlai E. Stevenson last month as chief U.S. delegate.

Goldberg said that because of majority opinion in the world organization, the United States had abandoned its attempts to enforce the voting penalty in Article 19. He said private polls among diplomats and U.N. officials had shown that a majority was not prepared to enforce the charter provision.

"We will not seek to frustrate that consensus," he said, "since it is not in the world interest to have the work of the General Assembly immobilized in these troubled days."

Vandalia Preps For Trapshoot

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — A steady bang, bang, bang will reverberate throughout the grounds here Friday signaling the start of the 66th Grand American Trapshooting Tournament.

The nine-day event, expected to attract the best shooters from 50 states and Canada, may also see a record field.

In last year's Grand American Handicap, feature event of the tournament, 2,719 shooters vied for honors. American Trapshooting Association officials look for possibly 3,000 participants in this year's Grand.

Preliminary events occupy the first three days with the tournament proper set to begin Aug. 23.

William E. Duggan, a 60-year-old trapshooter from Delphos, Ohio, will take another shot at the Grand American Handicap title he won a year ago.

If he repeats he'll accomplish what no other shooter has been able to do.

Duggan is typical of the gunners who have won titles here. Virtually unknown in trapshooting ranks, Duggan clipped 99 of 100 targets at 20 yards and won the crown in a shootoff.

His best previous effort was a 96 at 16 yards and his best handicap score was a 92.

Other champions are back and will try to repeat, including Mrs. Carl (Punkin) Flock, an attractive Miami, Fla., business woman won both the over - all and all-around titles for women last year without winning a single event.

She broke 933 of 1,000 targets to capture the over-all competition and 370 of 400 for all-around honors.

The over-all is based on every target of the official Grand program. The all-around is computed on 400 targets shot in the Amateur Clay Target Championship of America (200 at 16 yards); the Grand American Handicap (100) and the doubles (100).

Broker Buys Most of Town While Organ Plays 'Dixie'

MILSTEAD, Ga. (AP) — The old man shook his head when they started to auction off nearly all of the town of Milstead — the mill town where he went to work in 1904.

"The only trouble is that you don't know who might buy it or what they'll do with it," said S.S. Whatley, 79. But he didn't have long to wait.

Marvin A. Woolen, an Atlanta cotton broker, acquired most of the property Tuesday while an auctioneer chanted and an organ played background music.

Auctioneer Pierce Smith told everyone in the big tent that "everybody who ever lived in Milstead likes it" and the organist provided a stirring arrangement of "Dixie."

Woolen said he didn't know exactly what he was going to do with the town about 28 miles southeast of Atlanta.

The auction brought in a total of $152,825. Woolen purchased the Callaway Mills buildings for $72,500; the Milstead railroad with a rusty locomotive and three and one-half miles of track for $15,000; and the Milstead water system for $10,000.

About 300 men, women and children — watched the sale of almost everything except 250 private homes.

The old company store was sold along with the community center and post office, the drug store, the 10-room Milstead Hotel, four houses — including the largest ones in town — a hydroelectric plant and several building lots.

The town of Milstead grew up around Callaway Mills and a number of residents purchased their homes from the textile company in 1946. At one time 950 persons were employed there.

The mills closed in 1960 when the firm merged its manufacturing process with its larger mills in La Grange, Ga.

Shot Fatal To Negro in Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A Negro shot in a scuffle with a white special deputy early Sunday is dead and a Negro leader says if the death is ruled justifiable, he cannot be responsible for what happens in Youngstown.

Theodore Robinson, 34, died Tuesday in Southside Hospital where he had been in serious condition since the shooting. Doctors said they thought he would live, and that he was sitting up in bed just before he died.

Nathaniel Lee, president of the Ohio National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the local branch, said, "If the coroner issues a ruling of justifiable homicide, then the Negro leadership cannot be responsible for what will happen here."

Lee called for a meeting of the Youngstown Area Chamber of Commerce, the Mahoning County Sheriff's Department and the NAACP.

The deputy, Herman Spahr, 41, of Poland, was hospitalized for treatment of cuts and bruises after he was beaten by about a dozen Negroes after shooting Robinson.

Spahr told police his gun went off accidentally three times when he scuffled with Robinson on a street corner. He said he was trying to stop Robinson from beating his wife.

Chief Says Terror Plot Under Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus Police Chief George Scholter says his department is investigating an alleged terror plot which reportedly may be linked to activities of right wing extremists.

Scholter said federal authorities also are checking the report, but FBI investigators here and the Secret Service in Washington both declined comment.

The investigation is reported to revolve around two men being held in city prison on armed robbery charges. The two, Daniel Wagner, 19, and Verlin Gilliam, 30, both of Columbus, are accused of a store holdup here.

Police said they found five stocks of dynamite in a car abandoned by the pair. Officers quoted Wagner as saying the explosive was given to him for the purpose of blowing out tree stumps.

A second explosive cache was

About 300 men, women and children — half the population — watched the sale of almost everything except 250 private homes.

The old company store was sold along with the community center and post office, the drug store, the 10-room Milstead Hotel, four houses — including the largest ones in town — a hydro-electric plant and several building lots.

The town of Milstead grew up around Callaway Mills and a number of residents purchased their homes from the textile company in 1946. At one time 950 persons were employed there.

The mills closed in 1960 when the firm merged its manufacturing process with its larger mills in La Grange, Ga.

Shot Fatal To Negro in Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A Negro shot in a scuffle with a white special deputy early Sunday is dead and a Negro leader says if the death is ruled justifiable, he cannot be responsible for what happens in Youngstown.

Theodore Robinson, 34, died Tuesday in Southside Hospital where he had been in serious condition since the shooting. Doctors said they thought he would live, and that he was sitting up in bed just before he died.

Nathaniel Lee, president of the Ohio National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the local branch, said, "If the coroner issues a ruling of justifiable homicide, then the Negro leadership cannot be responsible for what will happen here."

Lee called for a meeting of the Youngstown Area Chamber of Commerce, the Mahoning County Sheriff's Department and the NAACP.

The deputy, Herman Spahr, 41, of Poland, was hospitalized for treatment of cuts and bruises after he was beaten by about a dozen Negroes after shooting Robinson.

Spahr told police his gun went off accidentally three times when he scuffled with Robinson on a street corner. He said he was trying to stop Robinson from beating his wife.

Chief Says Terror Plot Under Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus Police Chief George Scholer says his department is investigating an alleged terror plot which reportedly may be linked to activities of right wing extremists.

Scholer said federal authorities also are checking the report, but FBI investigators here and the Secret Service in Washington both declined comment.

The investigation is reported to revolve around two men being held in city prison on armed robbery charges. The two, Daniel Wagner, 19, and Verlin Gilliam, 30, both of Columbus, are accused of a store holdup here.

Police said they found five stocks of dynamite in a car abandoned by the pair. Officers quoted Wagner as saying the explosive was given to him for the purpose of blowing out tree stumps.

A second explosive cache was

Indians Still Have Trouble Defeating Lowly Athletics

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians still have trouble whipping the lowly Kansas City Athletics.

The A's defeated the Tribe 3-2 Tuesday night, and the loss was the Indians' sixth in 12 games against last-place Kansas City. The A's incidentally are below the .500 mark in competition with every other team in the American League.

The defeat dropped Cleveland into a third place tie with Chicago and Baltimore.

Low Krausse, recently recalled $125,000 bonus baby, got credit for the victory but needed help from veteran Don Mossi. They held the Tribe to four hits, including Larry Brown's sixth homer of the season.

Lee Stange, who lost his fourth game in 10 decisions for Cleveland, tossed one gopher ball that hurt, and reliever Gary Bell threw the other.

The A's Bert Campaneris slammed a round-tripper in the fifth off Stange after Mike Hershberger, a Massillon, Ohio boy doubled, putting the visitors ahead 2-0.

Rene Lachemann settled things in the seventh, belting a homer off Bell and giving the A's their winning margin.

Cleveland rallied for two runs in its half of the seventh. Duke Sims walked and Brown drove the first pitch over the left field fence.

Mossi relieved Krausse then and held the Tribe in check to preserve Krausse's first victory of this season.

Krausse was signed by the A's in 1961 when he was 18. The young right-hander allowed only three hits and five walks in his first major league appearance this year.

The Indians, eight games behind league-leading Minnesota, play the A's in a two-night doubleheader tonight. Cleveland's Jack Kralick and Sam McDowell will oppose Kansas City's Fred Talbot and John O'Donoghue.

New Backfield Assists Dawson

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer
LIBERTY, Mo. (AP) — The more than 450 pounds of protection in Kansas City's elephant backfield should enable quarterback Len Dawson to have less trouble with his trunk this season.

That will literally let Dawson breathe easier through the broken nose he suffered last year and possibly propel the Chiefs to the Western Division title in the American Football League after a second-place finish last season.

There is no doubt that Dawson, a nine-year veteran, has attained star status after years of apprenticeship. Despite the was picked on the Babe Parilli was picked on he all-league team, Dawson was the most efficient passer in the AFL, completing 56 per cent of his passes for 2,879 yards and 30 touchdowns.

He should get considerable help from the Elephant backfield of 232-pound Curt McClinton and 225-pound Mack (The Truck) Hill, who played together only sparingly last year.

McClinton, the Chiefs' regular fullback, was handicapped by a broken hand last season and gained only 252 yards after two 500-plus seasons.

Hill, who wears a quadruple E shoe, was a free agent from Southern University signed for about $300 who eventually cracked the Kansas City first team as a rookie last year. In less than a full season he raced for 567 yards and the league's top average—5.4 yards a carry.

"Hill was a sort of mystery to us," said Coach Hank Stram. "He was so good we kept looking for something to be wrong with him."

They didn't locate anything, and with Abner Haynes traded to Denver, there's little doubt that Stram is committed to go with size in his backfield unless former Kansas star Bert Coan finally begins to hit his expected potential after three disappointing seasons.

The one major question mark facing the Chiefs is the condition of Fred Arbanas, the all-league tight end. Arbanas was hit in the eye by a still unknown assailant on a Kansas City street last December and suffered a loss of visibility in his left eye.

Arbanas gained 686 yards on 34 receptions last year, and firmly states that the eye does not hamper him.

The rest of the receiving corps is strong with flanker Frank Jackson and split end Chris Burford. Veteran Tom Brooker and rookies Otis Taylor from Prairie View and Frank Pitts from Southern U. are the contenders should any of the starters, primarily Arbanas, falter.

The line consists of Jim Tyrer and Jerry Cornelison at tackle, Ed Budde and Curt Merz at guard and Jon Gilliam at center.

The defense has undergone a shuffling that should make it stronger. The key to the situation is Bobby Bell, who played defensive end last year but has been shifted to a linebacking spot that should be more comfortable.

Jerry Mays, one of the top tacklers in the league, moves over to one defensive end position with Mel Branch at the other.

Howell May Be Elevated By Brownies

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Mike Howell, who heads a corps of new defensive hopefuls, has a good chance of becoming a regular on the Cleveland Browns.

Howell, a 6-foot-1, 187-pound halfback from Grambling College, played more than half the game in the Browns' 37-21 victory over the San Francisco 49ers Sunday.

Coach Blanton Collier of the National Football League champions said about the rookie's performance against the 49ers: "He was both good and bad."

He had a pretty tough man in Bernie Casey, but managed to stick pretty close to him. In his eagerness he did miss a couple of interceptions, however."

Collier said he was pleased with the team's spirit in general. He felt the offensive unit played well and the defensive line charge was good.

There are 55 players preparing for Sunday's televised game against the Los Angeles Rams. The Browns' roster must be cut to 40 before the start of the regular season against the Washington Redskins at Washington Sept. 19.

Relief for night-backache lets you sleep again

Sometimes backache comes like a thief in the night, "steals" away your sleep, then robs you of energy all the next day. When the cause is overwork or just the daily strain of exertion or tension, that's the time to try Doan's Pills for speedy relief. Millions have found Doan's pain-relieving action often brings welcome relief from this nagging night-backache, headache or muscular pain in the night.

Then, too, unwise eating or drinking may be the cause of minor yet annoying bladder irritation. Doan's Pills often help to bring prompt relief in two ways: first, their soothing effect on bladder irritation. And, second, their mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Keep Doan's Pills handy. Millions have relied on Doan's for over sixty years. And for your convenience, get the large size.

Dodgers Go Far on Single Blasts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If there's any single accomplishment of the Los Angeles Dodgers, that's it.

In fact, the Dodgers have accomplished so much with singles, they've withstood virtually all attempts at their overthrow as leaders of the National League.

They pushed back another onslaught Tuesday night with a 4-2 triumph over Philadelphia. The victory kept the Dodgers one-half game ahead of the second-place Milwaukee Braves, who defeated St. Louis 4-1.

The Dodgers knew in the second inning they had to win to retain their lead. The Braves' earlier victory had put them one percentage point in first place.

But ferocious as they are, Walt Alston's one-base bombers battled back. They already had scored a run in the first inning on singles by Jim Gilliam and Jim Lefebvre, a walk to Ron Fairly and a hit batsman, but they trailed 2-1.

Then, with one out John Roseboro, now hitting .215, singled, and pinch runner Willie Crawford beat an attempted force at second.

After Maury Wills popped up, Gilliam singled home Crawford with the tying run and Lefebvre, a .238 hitter, singled in pinch runner John Kennedy. The Dodgers added a run in the ninth when Wes Parker, .242, singled and eventually scored as Kennedy, .198, singled.

All told, Los Angeles had 10 hits — all singles. That was nothing unusual, however, since the Dodgers have the fewest extra base hits and the third most singles in the league.

Elsewhere in the NL Tuesday San Francisco edged New York 3-2, Cincinnati downed Chicago 6-4 and Pittsburgh outlasted Houston 8-6.

In the American League Detroit defeated Minnesota 7-4, Kansas City nipped Cleveland 3-2, Chicago swept Washington 7-2 and 5-1, Baltimore stopped Boston 3-1 and New York whipped Los Angeles 6-1.

Denny Lemaster stopped St. Louis on three hits while Felipe Alou rapped four hits, igniting both Milwaukee scoring innings. Hank Aaron clouted his 27th homer in the fifth.

The Cardinals had only one hit until Tim McCarver singled in the eighth and Dal Maxvill doubled him home.

Ken Henderson, giving Willie Mays a rest, scored in the third inning on Willie McCovey's single, then doubled across the Giants' two other runs in the fourth. Bob Boin checked the Mets on three hits in 6-2-3 innings of relief.

Leo Cardenas slapped a two-run double in the eighth inning, carrying Cincinnati past the Cubs. Deron Johnson drove in two Red runs with a homer and a single while Frank Robinson contributed a homer. Billy Williams homered for Chicago.

Pittsburgh's Al McBean pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the ninth inning and saved Vernon Law's 14th victory against nine defeats.

Pittsburgh built up an 8-0 lead as Donn Clendenon socked a two-run homer and Gene Alley batted in two runs with a pair of singles.

Robinson Curbs Trouble Rumors

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Robinson, slugger supreme and elder statesman of the Cincinnati Reds, eliminated rumors of possible dissension between hitters and pitchers of his team.

There have been undertones that the Cincinnati sluggers, tops in the National League, were embittered because of recent failures of the pitching staff to protect leads.

Following a 6-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday, Robinson said, "There's no truth to it at all. Hell, we've lost games by scores of 2-0 and 2-1, does that give the pitchers the right to complain about the hitters?"

Robby was enjoying the Cincinnati triumph in which he contributed a tape-measure homer and a single which launched a two-run, game-winning rally in the eighth.

"I can honestly say, I've never blamed the pitchers for any of our losses and I've never heard any other of our players grumble."

Robinson, one of the few players still of the Cincinnati roster from the 1961 league champions, figures the Reds still have a chance to win the pennant.

"But we can't do it with a five-game winning streak," said Robby. "We got to get a 10 or 12-game streak going. There are too many clubs ahead of us and

Skins Move Richter Back To Old Job

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Pat Richter, the pride of Wisconsin, looks like a new man now that the Washington Redskins have moved him back to his old college job of split end.

Richter, a powerful 6-foot-5, 229-pounder, was used at tight end in his first two years as a pro. Coach Bill McPeak thought he had the size to handle the closed end job, but lack of experience at blocking almost proved disastrous for the All-America end.

"I didn't do much blocking in college," said Pat at the "Skins" training camp on the Dickinson College campus. "In the pros a tight end usually has to handle a defensive end or a linebacker. The first game I played against Cleveland I took quite a beating trying to handle Jim Houston and still get out for some passes."

Although Richter did catch 27 passes for 383 yards and three touchdowns as a rookie in 1963, he was demoted to second string last year when Washington got Preston Carpenter from the Pittsburgh Steelers. Last year Richter caught only four passes all season for a total of 49 yards. His main job was punting.

During the off season McPeak decided to switch Richter. He wrote the end a letter and told him to come to camp lighter in hopes of picking up more speed. He pared off five pounds.

In the opening exhibition game against Philadelphia, Richter caught four passes in the first half, or as many as he caught all last season. He wound up with 6 for 88 yards, including a 21-yard touchdown from Dick Shiner on which he beat the speedy Irv Cross with a great move.

Pony All-Stars Win Twin Bill

The Pony League All-Stars came up with two victories in a recent doubleheader — both on one run margins.

In the first tilt, the locals edged the Columbus Tiger Comets, 9-8 and in the second, 11-10. Ty Ankrum blasted a total of three home runs in the two games to pace the Pony Mustangs at the plate.

Pitching for the locals were Danny Fausnaugh, Gary Bolt-house, and Bryce Brown.

Kentucky has the worst all-time win-loss record of any football team in the Southeastern Conference. The Wildcats have won 60 games, lost 106 and tied 12 during 31 years of completion.

Bobby Dodd is only the third man ever employed as head football coach at Georgia Tech. In his 20 years at the Atlanta institution, Dodd has compiled a record of 149 victories, 59 defeats and seven ties.

GE '9' Takes Lead in BR Series Play

General Electric grabbed a game in the Babe Ruth championship series from L. M. Butch as they topped the Jewellers, 6-5, in a game that was started Monday.

The tilt was called after seven Monday with the score knotted 5-5. Both halves were shut out in the eighth and Butch went scoreless in the ninth yesterday. But GE won when Tom Cassill walked, stole second and third and scored on a squeeze play.

Cassill also earned the mound win for GE. He fanned 10, walked one and allowed nine hits in his nine frame game. Nick Wickerham started and was relieved by George Hill, with Hill absorbing the loss.

Rick Congrove paced his team to the win as he cracked a single and a homer with two on in the fifth. Roger Fausnaugh scored in the first as he hammered a double and was driven in by Plum. Doug Pontious tagged a two bagger in the fifth that turned into a score.

RONNIE Miller mauled the only extra baser for Butch as he hammered a homer in the first.

GE and Butch meet again tonight for the second round of the playoff. That game is scheduled to start at 5:15 p. m. at the Fairgrounds.

Wilt Seems Happy With Contract

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain, a new three-year six-figure contract in his pocket, must be glad that he passed up boxing now.

Chamberlain, who agreed to the pact with Philadelphia 76ers owner Ike Richman Tuesday, is expected to be making $105,000 per year, considerably more than 99.44 per cent of the boxers around today earn. And besides, he won't have to cut in a manager.

Richman said the 7-foot-2 Chamberlain would get "more money than any athlete in any sport ever received." Chamberlain who made $75,000 last year — his sixth in the National Basketball Association — called his new contract "a very healthy increase."

The world's record sea bass was caught off Fernandina Beach, Fla., by Lynn Joyner on May 20, 1961. It weighed 680 pounds.

Robinson Curbs Trouble Rumors

CHICAGO (AP)—Frank Robinson, slugger supreme and elder statesman of the Cincinnati Reds, eliminated rumors of possible dissension between hitters and pitchers of his team.

There have been undertones that the Cincinnati sluggers, tops in the National League, were embittered because of recent failures of the pitching staff to protect leads.

Following a 6-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday, Robinson said, "There's no truth to it at all. Hell, we've lost games by scores of 2-0 and 2-1, does that give the pitchers the right to complain about the hitters?"

Robby was enjoying the Cincinnati triumph in which he contributed a tape-measure homer and a single which launched a two-run, game-winning rally in the eighth.

"I can honestly say, I've never blamed the pitchers for any of our losses and I've never heard any other of our players grumble.

Robinson, one of the few players still of the Cincinnati roster from the 1961 league champions, figures the Reds still have a chance to win the pennant.

"But we can't do it with a five-game winning streak," said Robby. "We got to get a 10 or 12-game streak going. There are too many clubs ahead of us and another one which is pushing us. That makes it tough."

Cincinnati Manager Dick Sisler went along with Robinson.

"Sometimes we lost games when our hitters don't hit," said Sisler. "Sure, there are times when the players are disappointed over a loss, especially when the hitters gave the pitchers a lead.

"But this is a unit and I certainly have to deny any possibilities of dissension."

Rookie pitcher Ted Davidson helped the Reds start their hoped-for winning streak by beating the Cubs in his first role as a starter in the major leagues.

Davidson, however, needed relief help from Billy McCool and Sammy Ellis, who returned to his 1964 role as a reliever to stifle a Cub threat in the ninth inning after Chicago had scored one run. McCool pitched two innings of excellent ball, but was in trouble in the ninth.

Robinson's 22nd homer and Deron Johnson 23rd circuit blow supplied the power in Cincinnati's nine-hit assault on three Chicago hurlers. Shortstop Leo Cardenas slugged a two-run double in the eighth inning.

Johnson also knocked in a run in the second inning and increased his major league-leader RBI total to 97.

CHS Grid Coach Issues Drill Call

Circleville High School football coach Paul Starr today issued a call for uniform distribution tomorrow morning. Everyone who is interested in playing football should report in front of the high school gymnasium on East Mill St. at 9:30 a. m., Starr reported.

The Tiger grid coach emphasized the roster was still open for prospective candidates to the team.

Practices begin Friday morning.

The CHS schedule finds the gridgers working out from 9:45 to 11:55 a. m. in the mornings.

The afternoon sessions begin at 3 p. m. and run until 5:10 p. m.

In addition the CHS coaching staff is contemplating scheduling evening practices and even a few night practices under the lights. The bulk of the practice sessions will be conducted at the South Court St. School.

The Circleville coaching staff is the same this year with the exception of the addition of Terry Ater, who will assist Brent Bell with the junior high gridgers.

Members of the staff are, Starr, Dick Fisher, Dale Ambros, Jim Lint, Kent Carpenter, Ater and Bell.

Denver Coach's Hopes High Despite Player Problems

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — Mac Speedie, new coach of the Denver Broncos, has had Cookie Gilchrist walk into camp and Harold Olson walk out.

So he's optimistic.

Gilchrist, who finally decided to join the Broncos after a contract dispute with the club, gives the Broncos what could be the best running back crew in the American Football League.

Olson's walkout, meanwhile, does not represent a mutiny but a frank appraisal, according to Speedie, that he would be unable to hold a spot in the offensive line — long the Broncos' weakest link.

"He just walked out of camp," said Speedie. "It's the first time I've seen rookies chase a veteran out of camp. But it's also the first time we've had competition for spots in the line."

"As for Cookie, we know he has a lot of ability and we don't think there's going to be any trouble now that the dispute has been settled. We'll certainly help him with any problem he has, if he'll help us with ours — winning games."

And that Gilchrist can do. The league's leading rusher last season with 981 yards gained, Gilchrist will join forces with improving Charlie Mitchell and another trade acquisition, Abner Haynes. Haynes is the league's all time rushing leader but may not be able to crack the starting line-up.

Quarterback, however, is a major problem, with Mickey Slaughter, John McCormick and Jack Lee battling for the job. Slaughter and Lee shared the job last season but McCormick, out all year with a knee injury, is the big hope.

McCormick carried the Broncos to their only two 1963 victories — in the only two games he played — and hasn't seen action since.

The receivers are solid with Lionel Taylor, the league leader four out of five years, at split end; Hewitt Dixon at tight end, and Al Denson, a second-year man from Florida A&M expected to push regular Bob Scarpitto out of the flanker job.

In the line, 12 men are battling for about seven berths. Jim Perkins is the holdover at left tackle but is being greased by Tulsa rookie Bob Breitenstein and Lee Bernet, a free agent from Wisconsin. Eldon Danenhauer is one of the best in the league at right tackle.

Jerry Sturm is moving from center to one guard position while Bob McCullough is the incumbent on the right side. However, both are being pressed, by Wisconsin rookie Jon Hohman and Charlie Parker, Sophomore Ray Kubala, who got off to a slow start last season, has been tapped for center.

The defensive front four is strong with veterans Ed Cooke and Leroy Moore at the ends and Ray Jacobs and Charlie Janarette at tackle. Rookie Max Leetow from Idaho has been impressive at end.

The linebackers are Tom Erlandson, Jerry Hopkins and Larry Jordan with Ed Cummings backing up. There also are two strong rookie candidates in John Bramlett of Memphis State and Gene Jeter of Arkansas A&M.

Willie Brown, an all-league selection, is at one cornerback position with John Griffin holding the other. The safeties are John McGeever and Jim McMillin.

Northeast Ohio Raises BC Rate

CLEVELAND (AP) — Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio has announced a proposed 18.6 per cent increase in insurance rates effective Oct. 15 for the firm's 1.8 million subscribers in 11 Northeastern Ohio counties.

If the proposal is approved by the Ohio Department of Insurance, it will be the tenth rate increase since 1947.

Blue Cross made the decision after it reported a loss of more than $1 million in the first half of 1965.

Vernon R. Burt, executive vice president of Blue Cross, said Tuesday, "Blue Cross estimates that hospital costs per day of care will continue to rise at an annual rate of about 6.5 per cent."

Counties affected would be Cuyahoga, Geauga, Lake, Lorain, Medina, Portage and Summit.

Mom's Ambition: Become Mechanic

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Barbara Battles, a happily married mother of three, knows as much about changing oil as diapers.

Her ambition is to be a master mechanic.

"I can't wait to get my hands on a car and really go to work," says the dainty brunette who puts in 40 hours a week at her husband's service station.

Mrs. Battles, 26, has just completed a week's course in tune-ups. She expects her training to be completed by October.

"Business is slow right now," she says. "But I'll really be under there in the fall."

She means under the cars and under the hoods. That's where all the action is in the mechanic business and also all the grease and dirt. That doesn't bother Mrs. Battles.

"Washing dishes keeps my hands clean."

Mrs. Battles got into the business by accident shortly after her husband, Richard, 29, opened his first station three years ago.

"I stopped by one Sunday dressed for church," she said. "My husband told me to watch the station while he went on the road. The next thing I knew I was pumping gas. I was terrified."

Shortly after that the company that owns the station told Battles he had to open an hour earlier each day.

"He was putting in too many hours anyway so I said I'd do it," Mrs. Battles said. "But," she adds, her brown eyes flash, "if I was going to do it, I was going to do it right."

She decided to learn the business from bumper to bumper. She was the only woman to take a two-week course in pumping gas and changing oil. Then she started mechanic's school as the lone female in a class of 13.

Voting Plan Is Approved

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Gov. Paul B. Johnson's plan to ease constitutional requirements for voter registration was approved Tuesday by Mississippi voters.

The 2-1 vote was an endorsement of Johnson's course of moderation in dealing with the federal government.

Only two of the larger counties — Adams (Natchez) and Lauderdale (Meridian) — opposed it. The Ku Klux Klan is active in both areas.

Approval of the amendment officially opens the door to heavy Negro registration by local authorities.

The amendment deleted requirements that voters have good moral character, the ability to interpret the U.S. Constitution and the ability to define citizenship. The amendment will permit the legislature to add additional requirements later.

The Justice Department and civil rights leaders had attacked the state's requirements for voters on grounds they were used to discriminate against Negroes.

Lutheran Women Take Look At Role in Racial Strife

CLEVELAND (AP) — Lutheran Church women have focused their attention on the role of the church in today's racial turmoil as their annual convention continues.

Mrs. Abbie Clement Jackson of Louisville, Ky., former vice president of the National Council of Churches, told the delegates Tuesday night that she was "simply a black American."

"You cannot walk in my shoes unless you share them with me," she said, and invited her 1,000 listeners to take a "journey with me."

She told them of her 40 years of church work, including being a delegate to the assembly to the World Council of Churches in Amsterdam.

Mrs. Jackson, daughter of an African Methodist Episcopal Church bishop and widow of a pastor of the same church, told how Negroes are slighted by whites and said, "Negroes have resented such slights through the years. The young people of today resent it by violent reactions."

Earlier in the day, racial problems were discussed by William Ellis, a New York attorney and the first Negro to be elected to the executive hierarchy of the Lutheran Church, and Charles P. Taft, former mayor of Cincinnati and brother of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Speaking to some 1,000 members of the official auxiliary of the Lutheran Church in America, Ellis cited some of the reasons for the recent racial disturbances in the country.

"Ghettoes, lack of freedom, closed doors in corporations and factories, universities and churches, lack of familiar terms of respect like Mr. and Mrs. and the powerlessness that grips the Negro," are all causes of racial violence, he said.

Expressing the cynical attitude of today's Negro Ellis asked:

"Is it possible for me to be black, to be a man, and not have to apologize? Or must I, in order to be a man, be white?"

TO TELL OR NOT

Q. Should a person with cancer be told the whole truth?

A. No general rule can apply to all such situations. A decision of this nature is necessarily a personal one involving direct acquaintance with all concerned. According to the director of a large cancer hospital the vast majority of cancer patients know the nature of their illness despite attempts to keep this knowledge from them. Perhaps many cancer patients would appreciate frankness which would permit them to arrange their affairs, see their friends, and enjoy, as much as possible, the remaining time available to them. But again, whether, how, what and when to tell is an individual matter.

HAY FEVER FALLOUT

Q. Why do hay fever sufferers have more trouble at night than during the day? Is it because of damp night air?

A. No, it is probably due to greater fallout of pollen during the night and early morning. Pollen and other tiny particles that cause hay fever sufferers so much trouble tend to be kept aloft during the day by rising currents of warm air. At night the air near the surface of the earth cools. The upward air currents diminish and the suspended particles settle to earth.
